Administration

To you, Mr. Handley, our Principal for the last twelve years, we dedicate this, our 1958 Swan. We are greatly indebted to you for your tireless efforts spent in working for our school. We wish to extend our deepest thanks for seemingly unpaid and thankless hours of work that you have so graciously given to us.

Dorothy McGinnis, Ruth Ann Pease, Noreen Smith, Jeanne Aelmore, Darlene Cox, Judy Sims, and Sara Woodburn were given Bar Awards for having perfect attendance during the football-basketball season.

Kathryn Pease, Marie Sours, Jessie Fleming, Connie Hampton, and Joyce Andrews were given Indian Head Awards for not missing more than two games during the football-basketball season.

The Indian Head award is earned the first year. The bars are earned each following year.

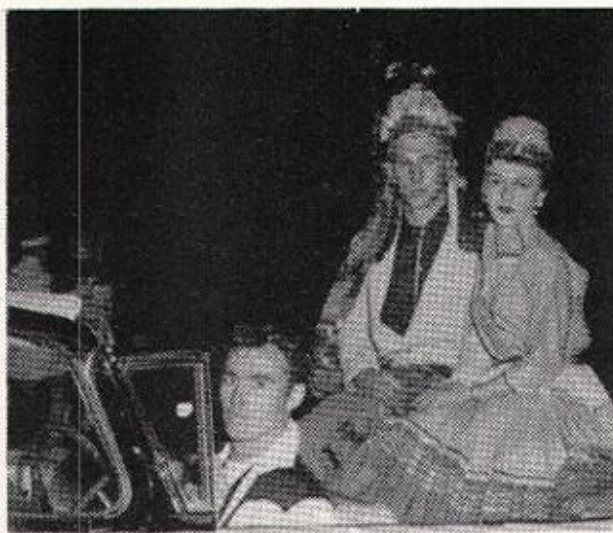

Yell Leaders

On the LaCygne Reservation the annual homecoming ceremonies took place on October 18th. When the lights came on at half-time, the tom-toms began throbbing. Young, 8th grade braves performed a tribal dance as the band sat in Indian blankets. The braves ran down the field and led on the pep club. When they were seated, a trumpet fanfare by Ruth Ann Pease, Earline Rose, and Linda Filtingberger, announced the entrance of the king and queen. The braves led the royal procession while the band played an Indian march. Indian maiden Joyce Tinsley carried the crowns to Chieftain Jerry Twogood, who crowned Larry Wilson. Larry then crowned Dorothy McGinnis his queen. They were serenaded by a flute solo "Indian Love Call," by Erma Rose. The king, queen, and attendants, Joyce Terry and John Teagarden-juniors; Sara Woodburn and Jerry Hampton-sophomores; Colleen Farris and Steve Lindsey-freshmen, and the Chieftain and maiden were toured around the field in convertibles. The band played as the royalty entered their carriages. They silently left the field and, thus, another traditional homecoming ceremony has made history at LRHS.

Junior Play

The junior play, "The Little Dog Laughed," under the supervision of Mrs. Virginia Carter, was greatly appreciated by everyone who saw it. Everyone who was connected with the play did his part very well and with confidence.

"The Little Dog Laughed," is about Laurie, a sophomore majoring in psychology, who comes home from college expecting to find a normal, well-adjusted family, but discovers her folks to be bound in psychological knots.

Her attempts to straighten out her family and friends, and their attempts to out smart the psychologist provided for a most amusing play.
